COMMENT OF THE DAY

Commonwealth Conference

THE Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference being held in London occurs at a crucial time. Much hangs upon its conduct, not merely upon the decisions it may or may not make, but also upon its ability and courage in tackling the problems which undoubtedly face it. It is a conference that will be watched with a more than usually critical eye by those who believe the British Commonwealth to be the most effective of international partnerships.

Much of the prestige enjoyed by the Commonwealth rested on the fact that, at the outbreak of World War II, this unit was bound tightly and immediately into a united force (the first and at one time the only such force, and certainly the centre of the democratic hopes of the world) while the League of Nations was destroyed, sinking without effect and without trace. The events of the Suez crisis have thrown some doubt upon this conception of the family bond.

THERE are many substantial, and it may be hoped, effective bonds which bind the freely associated nations of this community. But the final reason for the Commonwealth, without which the community is bound to become sterile and ineffective, must be the ability to join hands, and to do this instinctively, when the need arises.

So, the quarterly review of British Commonwealth Affairs asks "When one or two members drift into an attitude of continuous disapproval of the conduct of the rest, and the habit of scoring debating points or playing to the world gallery against them, the question is bound to be asked whether a body maintaining so little mutual consideration can long survive."

The soothing tone of the usual manifesto—"a valuable exchange of views on a wide variety of subjects" would be a disappointment after this meeting. It might mean that the truth was being concealed. It might mean that controversial issues had been dodged. It would certainly mean that we had not yet reached any decision on a matter of the first importance—"the rules of the club."

STILL ACCEPTING CARGO FOR S'PORE

Two of Hongkong's leading shipping lines on the coastal trade, the Indo-China Steam Navigation Co., Ltd., and the China Navigation Co., Ltd., are still accepting cargo for Singapore in spite of the continued crippling go-slow strike in that port.

The manager of the Indo-China S.N.C. Co., Ltd., said this morning that "they were presently not restricting the acceptance of cargo for Singapore as no request had been received from Singapore to do so."

Ships of the China Navigation Co., Ltd., whose ships, the Huipen, Chengdu and Hunyang, are leaving for Singapore in the next few days are all accepting cargo for Singapore.

NOT MUCH

A canvass this morning showed that the Singapore strike does not affect ocean carriers much. Most of them do not normally carry much cargo from Hong Kong.

Some of the carriers on the European run, for example, would take only seasonal vegetables from Hongkong to Singapore. The vegetables would be stacked on deck which could be quickly discharged on arrival.

The Knudsen Line's mv. Elisabeth Becker, due to leave here for Singapore tomorrow, is not accepting cargo for Singapore pending instructions from her principals.

SUSPENSION OF NUCLEAR TESTS

Russians Welcome New Western Proposal.

London, July 2.

THE West proposed today that the atomic powers agree to a 10-month suspension of nuclear tests. The proposal was conditional but was immediately described by Russia as "gratifying."

Shah's Daughter To Marry General's Son

Montreux, July 2. General Fazollah Zahedi, former Persian Prime Minister, announced here tonight that his son Aredchir would marry the 17-year-old daughter of the Shah of Persia, Princess Chahnaz, in about three months.

The Shah and Queen Soraya visited General Zahedi at his home here today. He has lived in Montreux for the past two years.

Princess Chahnaz, whose name means "pet of the Shah," is his daughter by his first marriage to Princess Fawzia, sister of ex-King Farouk of Egypt. She is his only child.

Queen Fawzia returned to Egypt in 1945 and the marriage was dissolved in 1948. In 1951 the Shah married Soraya, beautiful daughter of a Persian nobleman and a German mother.

The Shah's suite has repeatedly denied persistent rumours that during their current visit, the Royal couple would consult Swiss specialists about their childlessness. —China Mail Special.

SACKED MEN VISIT LABOUR OFFICE

Twenty-nine men representing 340 dismissed workers of the Pacific Worsted Mills Ltd, Tsui Wan visited the Commissioner for Labour this morning to place their problem before him.

The workers were dismissed because the factory owner said they had run into certain difficulties but said the workers would be re-employed when they had overcome these difficulties.

The Commissioner for Labour said he had heard the labourers' side of the story, "but it would not be proper to say anything until we have heard the employers' side of the story too."

The Western proposal was presented to the five-power disarmament conference here by British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. He said there should be prior international agreement to cut conventional arms and to halt all manufacture of fissionable material for warfare.

US delegate Harold E. Stassen said the 10-month suspension of tests could begin on the first day after a first-step disarmament treaty is ratified — which would have to include favourable action by the US Senate.

Stassen said the cut-off on production of nuclear weapons could come as late as 1959. But it could come earlier if agreement can be reached on details of inspection and control.

CONDITIONS

Western sources said Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin "welcomed" the US, British, French and Canadian proposal with "gratification." But he could not reply at once because of the seriousness of the matter.

Lloyd imposed these conditions upon suspension of the test.

★ Bilateral agreement to halt all production of fissionable materials for use in weapons, including missile warheads.

★ Acceptance of cutbacks in non-nuclear armaments and military manpower, as already proposed here.

It was the West's biggest concession in 11 years of stalemate arms-cutting negotiations.

In reply to Zorin's request for more details, Stassen said they would be presented in three or four more meetings.

Present weapons stockpiles would not be affected.

SAME RIGHT

However, Stassen said the Western proposal did not mean accurate inspection.

In effect, Stassen was offering to admit Soviet disarmament inspectors into Oak Ridge and Hanford and the other top-secret atomic plants in return for the same right in Russia. He said inspection could be worked out quickly.

US AIRLINE FAILS IN BID FOR HONGKONG CALL

In Europe and the Far East against an extension of British routes across the Pacific.

The talks investigated a possible further exchange of routes between British and US airlines under the Bermuda bilateral agreement.

The chief American demand was for the right for Trans World Airlines to link Frankfurt and Zurich.

This link would join up two TWA networks: one between New York, London and Frankfurt, and the other between New York and other European cities including Zurich to the Far East.

Missing Red Ships Sighted

Copenhagen, July 2. The Soviet cruiser Mikhail Kutuzov and three escorting vessels, which disappeared in the Atlantic on their way to Gibraltar, yesterday were observed in the "great belt," official sources said here today.

The Soviet warships recently entered the Mediterranean through the Dardanelles. They left through the Gibraltar Strait.

They were observed on a southbound course in the great belt yesterday and were believed heading for a Baltic harbour. —United Press.

HK Political Societies Due For Shakeup

By A CHINA MAIL REPORTER

GOVERNMENT will introduce a bill in the Legislative Council this afternoon to give it new powers to control the activities of political societies operating in the Colony under the guise of harmless titles.

One of the main aims of the provision is to strengthen its hand against societies exercising or attempting to exercise political or "undesirable" influence over schools.

Under the provisions of the bill, which will amend sections of the Societies Ordinance, Government will submit all societies to a searching investigation before they are registered.

"Rural committees" will have to be recognised by the District Commissioner, New Territories before they are registered.

Other loopholes which Government is seeking to close under the new bill include the possibility that companies or trade unions are registering as "societies."

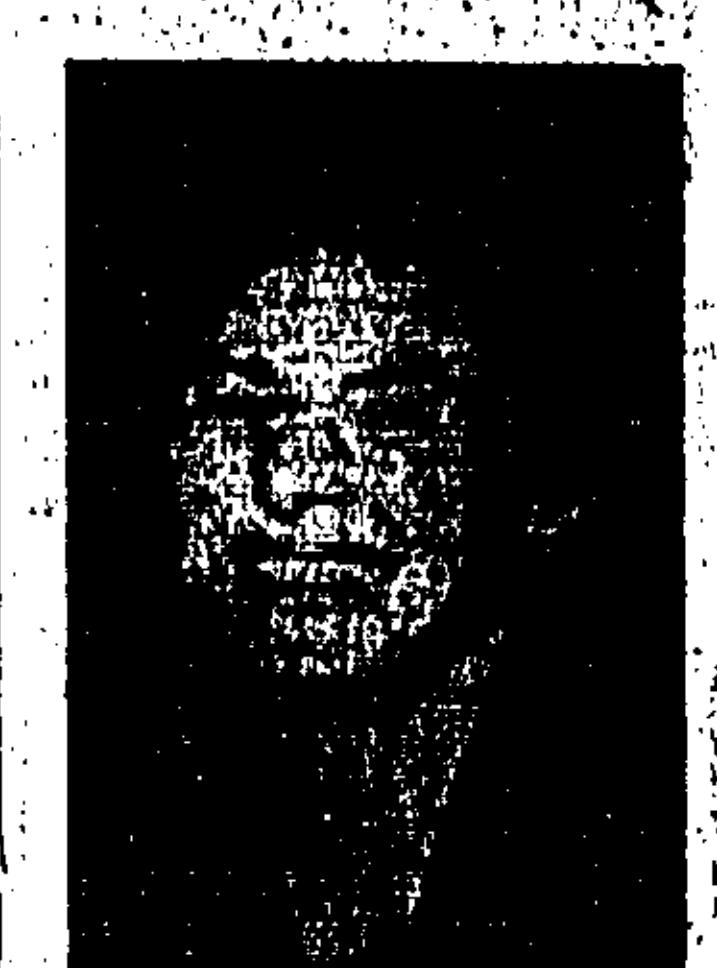

Another new and important power proposed by Government seeks to curb the growing tendency of certain local societies to participate in the commission of illegal acts in the name of the society.

So Government now aims to attach liability to officials and people assisting in the management of a society on behalf of which a criminal offence is committed.

The onus will then be on officials to prove they were not used for unlawful purposes.

They Make It Up

Rome, July 2. Roberto Rossellini and Ingrid Bergman have healed over any differences between them and will meet for a "second honeymoon" in August at the Italian resort of Santa Marinella, the Rome daily Momento said today.

INGRID BERGMAN

The couple have a villa they have used for brief vacations between films at the resort, some 35 miles north of Rome.

According to Momento, Rossellini plans to return to Rome as soon as he has finished working on his current film in India.

His wife, the paper said, will join him here after winding up her run in the Paris version of Robert Anderson's "Tora! and Spear" which opened a few days ago in Copenhagen. —United Press.

FLY WITH THE PILOTS WHO FLY THE WORLD

Churches Appeal For Colony Refugees

ROMAN Catholic churches have now launched appeals for international action to help Chinese refugees in Hongkong.

Last week, it was revealed in the China Mail that Protestant Churches here had requested the World Council of Churches last month to seek world-wide assistance.

And today, a Berlin report from Geneva said the International Catholic Migration Commission urged the United Nations Economic and Social Council to take action on behalf of Chinese refugees in Hongkong.

In a letter to the council, meeting in Geneva, the American President of the Commission, Mr. James J. Norris, said "these refugees have been estimated to number over half a million—more than one-quarter of the population of Hongkong."

Heavy Expenditures

"They are sleeping in attics, cellars, stairways, garages, in houses in the hills surrounding Hongkong and in the streets, with only makeshift beds—or sticks for shelter. Some 200,000 live on rooftops according to a count made recently by a helicopter survey."

"We feel that if these people could benefit from the assistance programmes of the High Commissioner for Refugees, the work of the voluntary organizations would be made more effective, as would that of the government of Hongkong, which has undertaken heavy expenditures to cope with the influx," the Roman Catholic church.

THE SPANISH NAVY SEIZES SHIP

Unconfirmed reports reaching Madrid today said the Spanish navy and air force had seized in the Mediterranean a small "Scandinavian" vessel named "Swansea" which had a cargo of 800 tons of arms loaded in West Germany.

The report said the ship was intercepted off Villa Sanjurjo, Morocco, and was fired to sink. It had been in the Spanish port of Algeciras where its cargo was supposed to be delivered.

MENZIES DOMINATES CONFERENCE

Defence Of Cape Route Discussed

By HAROLD GUARD

London, July 2.

The future of the United Nations and defence tactics since the loss of Suez were the main topics discussed by the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference here today.

Conference sources said this morning's seventh plenary session was "dominated" by Australian Premier Robert G. Menzies who called for a joint Commonwealth policy in the United Nations.

The sources said each representative of the 10 Commonwealth countries spoke at the session which stressed the need for reform of the United Nations if it is to be effective as referred to world affairs.

MALAYA HAS NO ANTHEM

Kuala Lumpur, July 2. The Federation of Malaya may not have a National Anthem ready by Independence Day on August 31, Malaysian Director of Information Inche Jacob Bin Laius, said here today.

Laius said an international competition held earlier in the year had failed to produce an anthem which the Federal Government considered suitable.

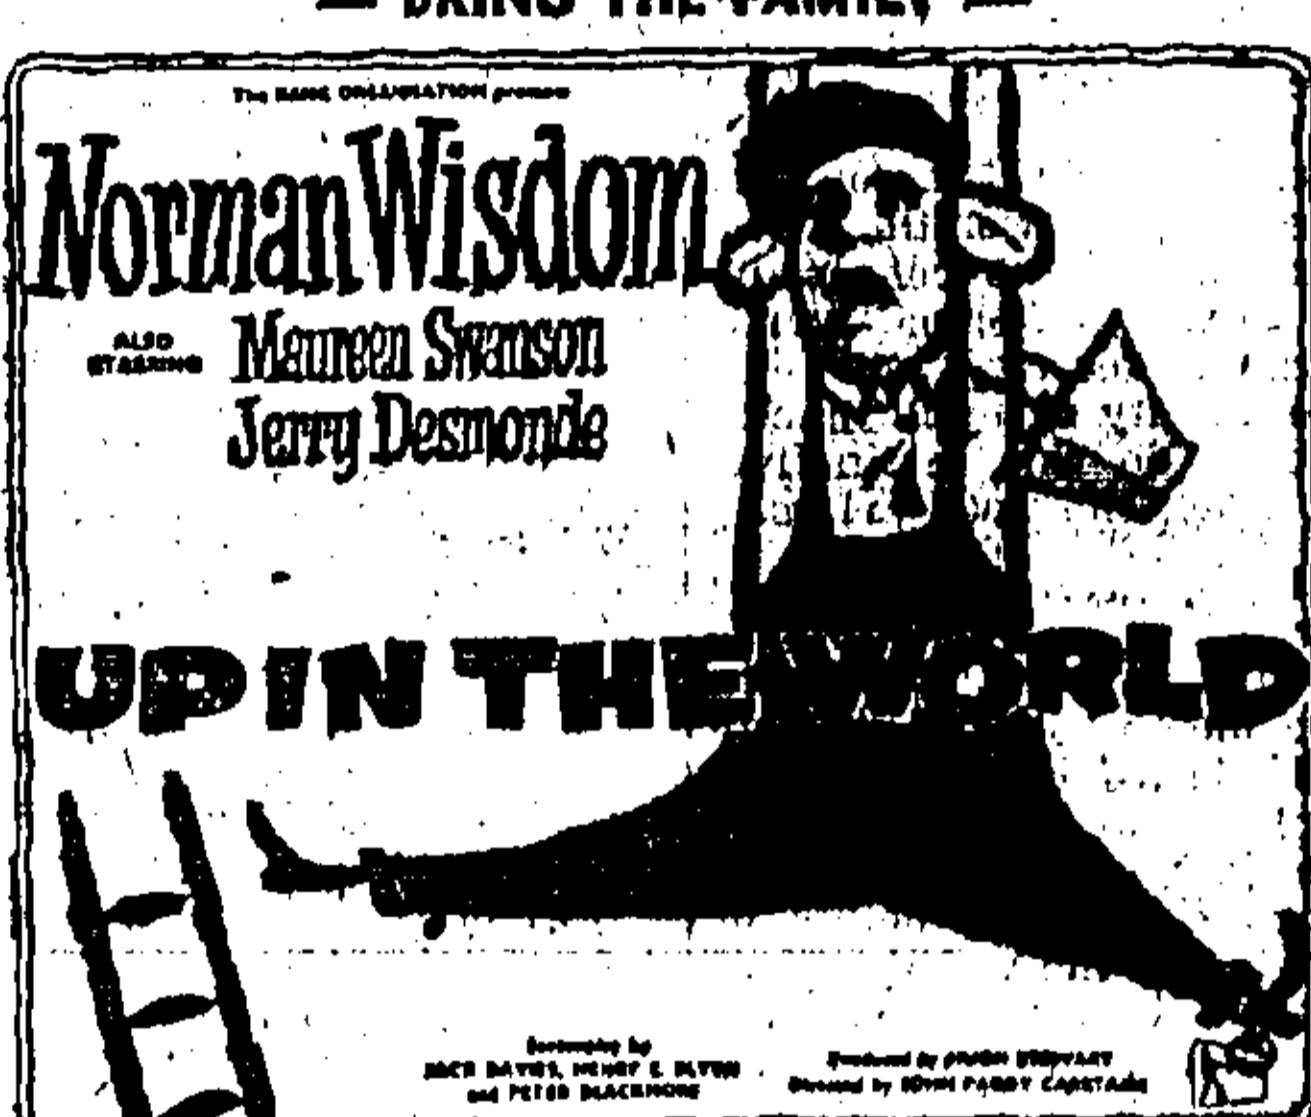

The Director of Information said the Duke of Gloucester, representing Britain's Queen Elizabeth, would arrive for the Independence celebrations on August 31.

UN SECURITY COUNCIL SEAT US And Britain Decide To Back Japan

New York, July 2. Britain and the United States both have decided to back Japan for membership of the United Nations Security Council, thus virtually assuring her of election, informed sources said today.

The question will come up at the next General Assembly, opening on September 17.

If elected, Japan would take office on January 1, 1958, when Cuba, the Philippines and Australia will have completed their two-year term.

There is a tacit understanding that Council seats are distributed on a geographical basis, and Panama and Canada are understood to be fairly certain of succeeding Cuba, a Latin American representative, and Australia, the Commonwealth one.

Colombia, the other Latin American member of the 11-nation Council, completes her term next year.

The Philippines occupies the seat assigned to Eastern Europe. But this is because she is deadlocked with Yugoslavia in the balloting at the 1956 Assembly.

RED CHINA EXPELS 6,000

Taipei, July 2. Father Aidan McGaugh of the St. Columban's Missionary Society, who spent two and a half years in Communist Chinese gaol, said today the Peking regime has expelled some 6,000 foreign Roman Catholic missionaries from China mainland.

In addition, Father McGaugh said, the Chinese Reds have executed at least 500 Chinese priests and imprisoned countless others.

In an interview with a local newspaper, he said the Reds have also confiscated 3,000 Roman Catholic primary schools, 200 high schools, 200 hospitals and three universities.

Father McGaugh was expelled from Red China in 1954. He is presently on a private visit here.—United Press.

DRAFTING OF NEW KASHMIR RESOLUTION?

London, July 2. Indian sources said tonight that the Prime Minister and Foreign Minister of Pakistan are drafting a new Kashmir resolution to be put before the United Nations Security Council.

They said British officials were assisting with the draft of a resolution calling for UN-supervised plebiscite in which the people of Kashmir would decide whether to join India or Pakistan.

NOT AWARE

Pakistan sources said they were not aware that a new resolution was being prepared. They emphasized, however, that Pakistan had been demanding such a plebiscite.

The Indian informants said that Pakistan's Prime Minister, H. S. Suhrawardy, and his Foreign Minister, Malik Firoz Khan Noon, were working on the draft. They are attending the Commonwealth Ministers' meeting here.

NO COMMENT

A Pakistan official declined to comment on reports from the UN that his government is urging a July meeting of the Security Council on Kashmir.

Suhrawardy was believed to be making "diplomatic inquiries" here to determine whether Council members favour a July session.

"Pakistan will most certainly raise the Kashmir issue in the Security Council in September," one source said.—United Press.

ISRAEL WANTS PEACE IN MIDDLE EAST Says Elath

London, July 2. The Israeli ambassador to Britain called today for an "international understanding" to solve the problems of the Middle East.

Mr. Elihu, Elath, in a speech to the Anglo-Jewish Association, said Israel sought peace in the Middle East with "no intention of aggression" or conquest.

"Israel welcomes, for her own sake as well as her neighbours' sake, any progress in the area to raise standards of living," he asserted, adding, "These are far more necessary to the welfare of the Middle East than nationalistic struggles, which can only foster fanaticism and xenophobia."

The major need, he said, was for an "international understanding" which would be important to Israel and the Arab allies and could contribute to the peace and stability of the area.

UK Interested In Nasser's Call

London, July 2. A Foreign Office spokesman said today that Britain had noted "with interest" President Gamal Abdel Nasser's call for a return to normal relations between Britain and Egypt.

A-Energy Plans Suffer Set-Back

Bonn, July 2.

West Germany's atomic energy plans suffered a major set-back today when the government suddenly abandoned attempts to push a nuclear energy bill through Parliament before the September elections.

The decision to do so was encouraged after a group of some 50 deputies of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democrats (CDU) expressed fears that the bill might hamper later atomic rearmament of the Bundeswehr.

The bill laid down the legal conditions for operation of atomic reactors for industrial and other purposes. West Germany plans to buy or construct at least a half-dozen such reactors.

The bill already had passed its first reading and committee stages in the Bonn Parliament. It was due to receive its second and third readings in the Bundestag (lower house) after passage of a constitutional amendment giving the Federal Government control of all peaceful atomic energy questions.

But for the second time in four days the constitutional amendment failed to pass because it was two votes short of the necessary 322—two-thirds of the Lower House. More than 90 deputies failed to put in an appearance for the vote.

QUAKE ROCKS ASSAM

Calcutta, July 2.

Millions of people rushed for safety into streets and fields in the early hours of today as a one-minute earth tremor rocked the entire state of Assam on India's border with Burma.

A second, more violent shock occurred 30 seconds afterwards and a third a little later.

Some buildings were damaged in the Indian town of Mymensingh to the south of Assam, and the seismic tremor was short-lived but violent. The tremor was reported to have been felt in parts of the state of Nagaland, which borders Assam.

KISHI DENIES FORCED INTO SECRET AGREEMENTS

Tokyo, July 2.

Japanese Prime Minister, Mr. Nobusuke Kishi, tonight denied he had been forced into reaching a number of secret agreements with the United States administration during his recent visit to Washington.

The British reaction made it clear that the British Government is not prepared to consider Nasser's offer as a formal approach to Britain for resumption of normal relations.

The spokesman added, in reply to questions at the regular news conference, that Britain had at present no intention of taking the initiative for such a move.

The spokesman declined to comment on details of President Nasser's interview. He said, however, that Britain was not aware that Egypt had informed the United Nations in writing of her readiness to accept jurisdiction of the International Court of Justice on the legal uses of the Suez Canal.

PREPAREDNESS

Nasser in his interview indicated his preparedness to seek and accept a ruling by the International Court on the Suez Canal.

The British spokesman emphasized that written acceptance of the ruling of the International Court was prescribed by the statutes.

A mere verbal declaration was not held binding, he said.—United Press.

US FATHER PROTESTS SON'S ARREST

New York, July 2.

Les McEwen, the father of 22-year-old American soldier, Dwayne McEwen, accused of murdering a man named Abdell Ahmed Llamin in Paris, today protested because his son had been arrested by the French authorities.

McEwen said he did not want his son tried in a French court and was prepared to bring the matter before the United States Supreme Court if necessary.

McEwen said he had been assured at the Airport of Frankfurt, Germany, that his son had been arrested because he had been trying to leave France without permission.

A second, more violent shock occurred 30 seconds afterwards and a third a little later.

Some buildings were damaged in the Indian town of Mymensingh to the south of Assam, and the seismic tremor was short-lived but violent. The tremor was reported to have been felt in parts of the state of Nagaland, which borders Assam.

Masks Lost By Touring Troupe

Paris, July 2.

A Japanese theatrical company touring France tonight reported loss of a package of masks essential for its performances.

The troupe, of the Japanese "No" was returning to Paris by Pullman car from Dijon when they discovered the loss.

They believe the package fell from the bus.

A rehearsal was broken off and the troupe, the members of which are all wearing masks, had to go on stage without them.

The troupe was performing a play in which the actors wear masks.

NEW PURGE EXPECTED IN RED CHINA

By JACQUES LOCQUIN

Peking, July 2.

The Communist Chinese campaign against "rightist deviationists" has entered a new phase, expected to be marked by a purge of "counter-revolutionaries".

This new phase was clearly indicated in an editorial by the Communist Party paper "People's Daily" which said that "bourgeois" and "reactionary" forces had been deliberately left unchecked "in order to let the masses understand how dangerous they are and participate in their total elimination."

A TRAP

The paper said: "We organised a trap to catch all those who were planning to usurp power."

A check of the national and provincial press showed that somewhat less than 200 persons have been accused of "rightist deviationists."

Among them are prominent figures, including Cabinet ministers Lo Lung Chi, Chuan Po Chen and Ching Nai-Hsi, and prominent journalists such as Chuan Ping, who was recently fired from the editorial of the "Kwang Ming Daily."

The anti-deviationist campaign, for the time being remains centred on the "rectification" movement organised by four of the six tiny parties which exist in China along with the Communist Party.

SELF-CRITICISM

These parties have called a succession of "accusation meetings" in which critics of the Communist Party are asked to make detailed "self-criticisms."

At one such meeting, Lo Lung Chi, head of the Democratic League, had to explain why he attended a dinner party in Chungking with "arch enemies of China," John Leighton Stuart, former American Ambassador to China, and American Generals George Marshall and Albert Wedemeyer. Lo was censured for having invited American consular officials to a cocktail party in Shanghai in 1949.—France Presse.

AIRCRAFT STILL MISSING

Dacca, July 2.

The Pakistan Dakota plane, missing since yesterday with 24 persons aboard, was still untraced tonight; it was learned here.

Earlier reports that the aircraft had made a forced landing and that the 20 passengers and four crew members were safe have been contradicted and it was now feared that the plane might have crashed in the Bay of Bengal.

It was learned from Calcutta's Dum Dum airport that Indian aircraft, which rushed to join the search operations yesterday, were also carrying out reconnaissances over adjoining Indian territory in case the plane had landed or crashed there.

The plane disappeared on a regular morning flight from Chittagong to Dacca.—France Presse.

SNOW-JUMPING is not so effortless as the experts make it look, so a watch has to be pretty tough to take it in its stride. That's why Pat Smythe is so pleased with her lovely Rolex Oyster Perpetual.

She says: "It is all the time, and as for worrying about it when I jump, I never give it a thought. I wonder, at first, whether I could stand up to the jarring and the falls, but they don't harm it at all."

"I've worn it sailing, where it often gets wet. I've worn it skiing, where it gets covered in snow, and I've worn it in 30° of water in the bath. I've even worn it in the Sahara desert. Nothing seems to affect it. It goes on keeping perfect time—and winding itself, which means there's nothing less to remember."

"I'm delighted with my beautiful Oyster Perpetual. It's my constant companion. It's ideal for women who like hunting and active sports. It is perfectly lovely to look at, and whatever you do—ride, sail, ski, swim—it keeps perfect time. The presence of a Rolex in all the spheres of modern life is something to be proud of."

Sure, they are building dreams... but are they GOOD dreams?

AN intriguing picture of wide and powerful influence falls suddenly into place with this, the final report on Prince Charles's future training and a factor the public knows little about. That factor is the Salem Set—an incredibly fast-rising educational movement that has sown its roots deeply.

by
DONALD EDGAR

The school in Greece was founded in 1949. In 1950 Prince Philip and the Queen—then Princess Elizabeth—visited the school.

The next day Prince Philip went back to see the head master. He is Jocelyn G. Winthrop Young, who has a reputation as a mountaineer, and was also a classmate of the Prince at Gordonstoun.

PATTERN

THE Crown Prince of Greece is being educated at Anavryta.

The pattern at Anavryta is the familiar Salem one: athletics on the Greek model, hockey, initiative tests, an austere life.

It is all the familiar pattern of the schools which Plato dreamed about for his ideal Republic—schools to produce a "Guardian" class of elite who would direct society.

And Kurt Hahn as a young German studied Plato and admired the philosophy.

When the German Empire was overwhelmed by the Allies and a republic was set up it was a time of the greatest humiliation for the princely houses of Germany.

It is a little difficult for us in 1957 to realize that in 1918 Europe was still the centre of the world.

And that through the monarchies, many of them still nearly absolute, the German nobles had every reason to believe that it was their destiny to control the world.

Prince Max von Baden, one of the great German aristocrats and the last Chancellor to the Kaiser, surveyed the scene.

Where had they gone wrong? It was then that Hahn made his voice heard.

The secret, he said, was in education. He pointed to England. There a monarchy, German by origin, was firmly on the throne. There was a victorious country whose ruling class was still respected.

Deeply imbued with Plato, who had also constructed his ideal system of educating an elite when Athens had been defeated, he argued that a mixture of Plato and the system of Elton would produce an efficient elite.

SPARTAN

PRINCE MAX was won over.

The new Spartan race would be created if not in his generation, then in the next.

He made available a large part of his great castle at Salem. The Salem system was born.

And when one considers its influence after only 40 years—the future for it looks most promising.

I said the Salem system was like an onion.

Strip off one skin and you find what seems just a variation of the original theme of the British public school with added emphasis on character-building, initiative, and self-reliance. All praiseworthy virtues.

Strip off another and you feel that something has gone wrong with that wholesome vegetable, the British public-school system.

That this is the public-school system seems through earnest admission agreed that nevertheless not the focus all wrong. The focus is just an organic English growth, not a conscious attempt to produce leaders who are of a philosophic disposition, high spirits, speed, and strength—to quote Plato.

And Plato, with his beautiful dream—for he was more poet than philosopher—dreamed an ideal republic of castes that most people agree today is more Fascist and totalitarian than anything else.

But strip off skin after skin—and always there is the influence of the German noble families. With an admixture of the big in-dustryists whom they admit into partnership.

They are all related, these princes, margraves, counts—related to each other. Related to such kings and queens as exist. Is there a plan behind it all? Is there a kernel of embryonic power?

Are the international links part of some purpose?

Are people still dreaming dreams? Are they good dreams?

My Wimbledon row with Teach Tennant

MAUREEN CONNOLLY

CONTINUES HER OWN STORY.
"THE MASK OF LITTLE MO"

CONNOLLY: Teach supplanted my mother in my life.

TENNANT: She was always dominant and outspoken.

this was far from a happy time in my career. Teach thought Wimbledon meant to me, but she wasn't sure whether or not I should play.

Teach sent me first to a soccer trainer who diagnosed the shoulder as fibrosis and suggested laminectomy. Then she took me to a chiropractor who diagnosed my trouble as a torn muscle.

Finally she called Perry T. Jones for help. Jones, now president of the Southern California Tennis Association, was a long-standing friend of both Little Mo and Eleanor Tennant.

Refused

This touched off another row between Teach and me. She thought my whole future would be jeopardized but I could not agree. My shoulder did not hurt when I hit a forehand drive or backhand but only an overhead shot.

I was certain it couldn't be a torn muscle.

We were having tea in the players' tea-room over the No. 1 court at Wimbledon and the current argument was about mixed doubles. I was scheduled to play and Teach wanted me to withdraw. I refused.

The big blow fell immediately afterwards, when Teach was quoted as having said she was washing her hands of me. I was headstrong, and wouldn't listen to her advice, and was putting my career in jeopardy.

Now I had no chance at Wimbledon, the story went. Teach was quoted as advocating my withdrawal from the singles, while, as a matter of fact, only mixed doubles had been under discussion.

She not only doubted my word, but she was furious because I failed to keep a tennis date with her the next day. My young temper matched hers.

There are two versions of my break with Teach, mine and hers. This is my story and I shall tell it now for the first time as I remember it.

She was always dominant, outspoken, a positive curmudgeon at all times; she adored stupidly, and her like, adored stupidly, and her like, adored stupidly.

Although I was now going after the greatest title of all,

Stunned

I WAS stunned, bewildered, confused, and almost on the verge of a nervous breakdown. Even during our quarrels the thought of going into battle at Wimbledon without Teach had never occurred to me. My fuel—emotion, however—was anger.

Then he burst the telephone bell of the Press room and the phone never stopped ringing. My mother was die-

Squeeze Beats Odds
On Break

By OSWALD JACOBY

SOUTH lost no time about going down. He trumped the second club, played one round of trumps, entered dummy with the king of hearts, discarded two hearts on the next and king of spades, led a heart to his ace and played the jack of hearts.

South hoped to trump that card in dummy but West ruined everything by ruffing with the eight-spot and that was all.

South had no real excuse for losing the hand. His line of play had a fair chance for success, but he would have done much better if he had relied on possible squeezes and errors by the defence instead of putting his trust in a three-three heart split.

The opening club lead marked East with the ace.

South should have ducked the opening lead and simply run all his trumps after ruffing the second club.

On the next-to-last trump lead dummy would go down to ace-king-jack of spades, king-four of hearts and king of clubs. He would have watched the East and West discards intently and would have noticed that the squeeze (if there was one) would be against East. Hence he would throw jack of spades from dummy.

A heart would be led to dummy's king and the ace and king of spades would be cashed. This series of plays would complete a squeeze against East. East would have to guard his queen of hearts in order to hold on to the ace of clubs and that would be all.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Clean woodenware immediately after use. Never immerse in water or soak. Use as little water as possible and keep warm up.

Never put woodenware in the refrigerator. If rough spots develop, smooth with sandpaper. Never polish, wax or varnish.

Even sturdy metal pots may warp or buckle if suddenly chilled or taken from the refrigerator and placed on a hot stove. Start cooking over low heat, then increase heat as pot warms up.

Never put coloured articles in the wash when laundering white nylon clothing.

An old safety razor blade is excellent for removing labels or paint from windowspanes, and is a good deal harder than scissars for ripping seams.

Hand's Three Friends

—None of Them Had Ever Been Inside A Real House—

By MAX TRELL

ONE day, Hand, the shadow girl, was sitting on the back steps when three of her friends came along.

The first friend was Grasshopper.

The second friend was Mouse. The third friend was Snail.

After greeting Hand in a friendly manner, Mouse, who had elected himself spokesman for the other two said:

"None of us has ever been inside a real house before. We'd like very much if you'd take us in."

Very Useful

"I'd be delighted to," said Hand. She got to her feet. " Houses are very useful things. People live in them all the time."

"So do snails," said Snail. "What's more, I carry my house around with me wherever I go. Do the people in this house carry it around with them wherever they go?"

Hand shook her head:

"It's much too heavy. People move but their houses don't."

"I live under a leaf," said Grasshopper. "That suits me fine."

"I had a cousin who once lived in a house," said Mouse. "But I spent most of my time in the country. I live in a barn."

Hand took them down into the cellar.

"How do you like it?" she said. "The cellar is at the bottom of the house."

Sunny Places

Grasshopper didn't think much of the cellar.

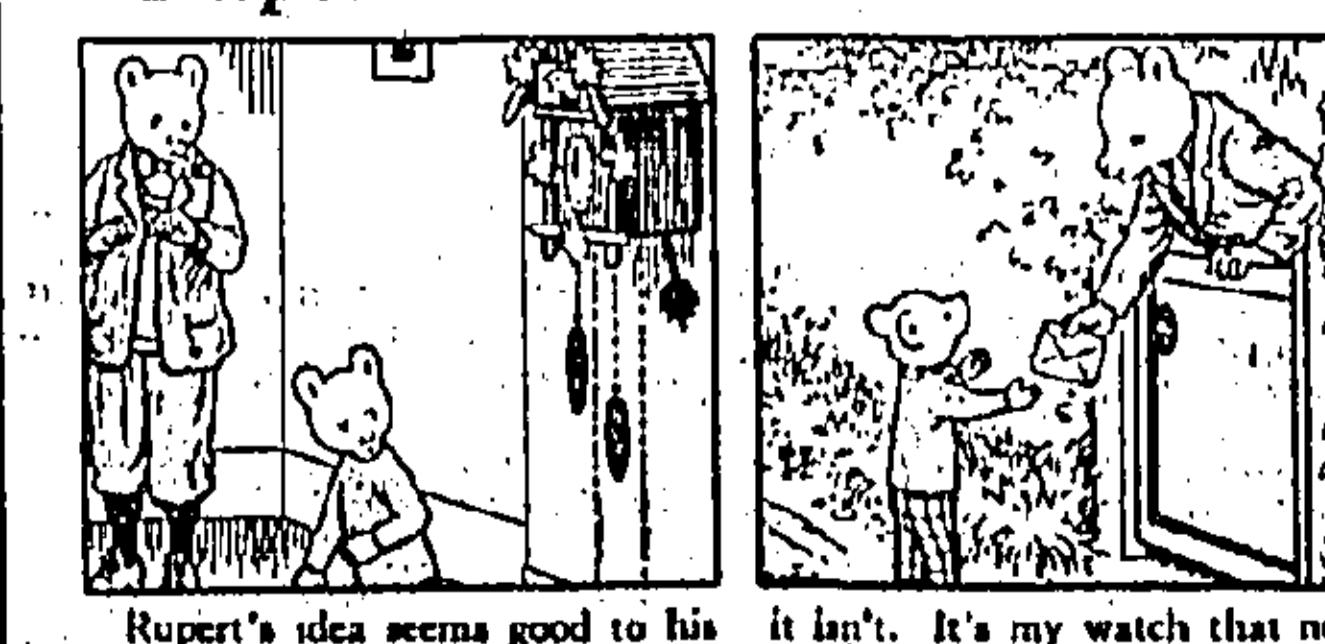

"It looks dark," he said. "I like sunny places."

Snail said: "I don't care for the sun."

"I sleep when the sun is shining," said Mouse. "Gloomy the night any time."

Hand explained that the cellar was for storing things.

Rupert and the Old Hat—4

Rupert's idea seems good to his Daddy and he is just going to ask Mrs. Bear if she agrees when the cuckoo in the clock sounds nine o'clock. Hey, what's wrong with the clock?" he exclaims. "Dad, it isn't very fast." He takes his watch and looks worried. "No time," he says. "I must get up."

It isn't. It's my watch that needs repair. Would you like to take it to the jeweller in Pussycat? It would be a nice bus ride for you and you could go and see the jeweller after. He puts the watch into an envelope and Rupert takes it and hurries off happily.

NEW RUBBER APPROVED

Grasshopper was delighted with the jack-in-the-box.

anyone live in a place where there isn't any grass?"

Stall was quite definite about not staying in a big house.

"I'll keep living in my own, thank you. When you carry your house with you the way I do, you can go out and still be at home."

Mouse was the only one who had half-tempted to stay in the house.

"My cousin would be glad to have me move in with him. But I like my old barn better. It's got better ventilation."

But they all thanked Hand very much for inviting them inside and showing them around.

"One of these days," said Snail, as he tipped his hat, "you will come and see my house."

"But I won't be able to invite you in. I fill up every inch of the house with myself."

Then they all went away.

It's Time To Get Rid Of Those Useless Medicines

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

I'VE repeatedly urged you to get rid of all the old medicines you may have about the house, for it is important that you do. Some drugs become stronger with age, others lose much or all of their potency.

But, chances are, many of you are holding on to those assorted bottles stuffed in your medicine chest while trying to remember just how long you have had them.

If you don't remember when you got a specific medicine, get rid of it right away.

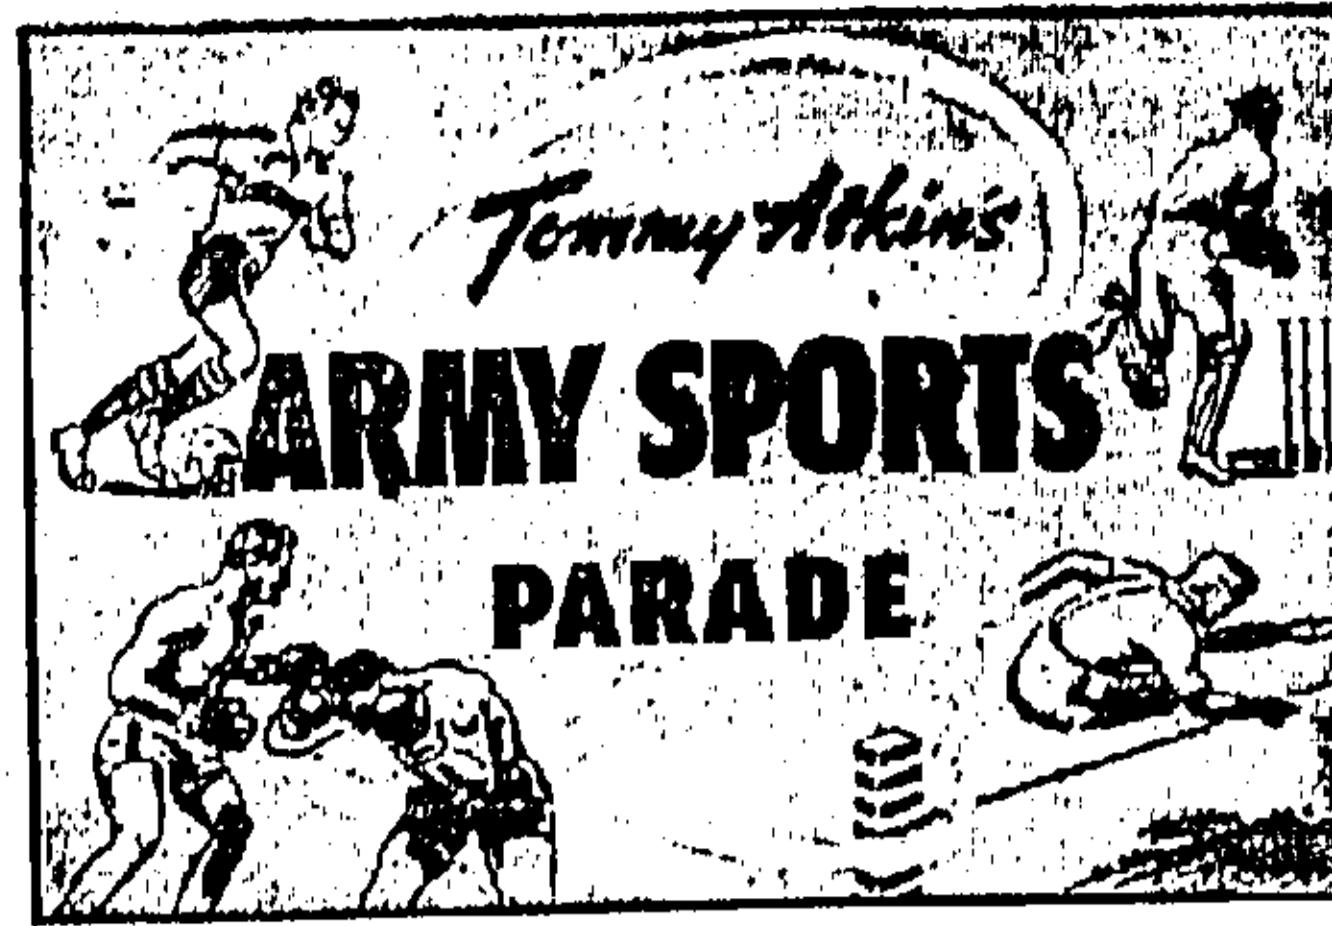

But if you are wondering whether a certain purchase might have lost its effectiveness, there are a few ways of determining how potent it is simply by its appearance.

Tablets which have started to crumble should be tossed out.

Solves and ointments are ready for the dust bin when they become dark, separate or acquire watery spots.

Keep solutions only as long as they remain clear. Get rid of them when they change colour or you can see residue in the bottle.

Some germicidal disinfectants retain their strength as long as the bottle lasts; other types deteriorate each time the bottle is opened.

The Hongkong Chinese Training Unit, commanded by Major R. R. Greaves, Northamptonshire Regiment, takes a very deserved spotlight this week if only for the distinction of being the only Hongkong unit, this season to win a FARTEL team title.

The total strength of staff and recruits seldom exceeds 120 and while from a sports viewpoint, the authorities regard them as a minor unit, the HKCTU have other ideas, and, entering the major units section of most sports, they "have a go" at practically everything.

They stand supreme in the basketball world and, apart from their wing position, Cpl Harry Davies of Command Workshops, REME, a player I felt was overshadowed by two slightly better centre-halves but who would have done well had he properly presented himself. For tennis, the Hussars is a very sound back, and last, but not least Cpl Grinchaw, REME, are other deputaries.

These seven departures must be causing the Army team many headaches and it can only be hoped that the new arrivals, RTR and REME, will produce all the enthusiasm to maintain the high standard of Army soccer in the Colony.

ENTHUSIASM

A lot was owed to SSI Paddy Croft, APFC, for his enthusiasm and guidance, and it was a pleasure to see him, along with the local boys. The "star" of the team was undoubtedly Cpl. Yau Ching-hang who totalled no less than 356 points out of the 1,623 scored in 17 games, in which they only conceded 495. Lok Kuan-chuen and Kwan Wai-kun were also prominent, and the remainder of the squad were well trained, well coached, and very fit and keen.

They are at present lumbering up for the Summer League, due to start shortly, and several have been selected for training with an Army team scheduled to meet the American "Adventurers" for Victory, ten weeks due in the Colony in the near future.

Showing at athletes, they won the Hongkong Other Ranks Championship for the seventh successive year, and prompted by this success, "had a go" in the Garrison and Land Forces Team Championships.

In the former they gained a merited fourth position below as such athletically minded units as 178 Locating Battery, RA, and 1 COD, and in the Land Forces meeting, although ranked fifth, they were in fact only 1½ points behind the third team. A very creditable performance which hope to see bettered next season.

Defeating the holders, 82 Independent (HK) Sdn, RE, by two straight pulls, they rounded off the athletic season by annexing the Tag - o - War Championship.

IN THEIR ELEMENT

Naturally, at swimming and water polo, they were in their element, and after winning the Hongkong Other Ranks Individual and team swimming titles, they took a deserved third position in the Land Forces team event and, but for the fact that the Army claimed their star diver, may well have more closely challenged the winners, the Hongkong Signal Regiment.

At soccer the larger and stronger British opposition proved too much for the local boys and they spent the season supporting the other teams in the Hongkong zone of the Major Units League, finishing with a played 12, won 1, lost 11 average, but earned a lot of praise for good sportsmanship.

The unit have yet to be bitten by the hockey, boxing and cricket "pugs," but after their successes in other branches of sport, it cannot be long before we see them "having a go."

On completing this review of the year, I would assure the HKCTU that we have enjoyed meeting you in one sport or another, in fact, in one sport we have learnt a lot from you, and I for one look forward to seeing you in action again when the main sporting season re-opens. Good luck to all.

Next week the spotlight goes over the hill to Sek Kong when that popular summer sport, 10 Field Rgt, RA, will be featured.

SEVEN DEPART

Soccer fans will be disappointed to hear of the departure from the Colony of a host of Army "stars," among whom are Sgt. Bert Allen, RAEC, from 10 Field Rgt, RA, a player who turned in some very good games last season, and the sparkling "wing" man, Sgt. Eric Griffiths from 15 Medium Rgt, whom I considered rose from an "average" grading at the start of the season to one of brilliance toward its end, certainly he was the most feared winger from the Chinese players' viewpoint.

Gnr. Terry Hogan of 27 HAA Rgt, RA, will no longer contribute to our enjoyment of the game and he will be sorely missed as a player and as captain of the team. Sgt. Chas Chatterton, RAEC, from 10 Field Engineer Rgt, RE,

SURREY STRETCH THEIR LEAD TO 44 POINTS Beat Yorkshire By An Innings

London, July 2.
Surrey, the County Cricket Champions and leaders, increased their lead in the table to 44 points when they beat Yorkshire by an innings and 19 runs today.

They now have 146 points from 12 matches and lead from Derbyshire, 102 points from 12 games, who were playing the West Indies in the series which ended today.

Leicestershire, who beat Middlesex by 72 runs, and Warwickshire, who drew with Kent, are next with 100 points each from 13 matches.

Fifth in the table are Northamptonshire, whose victory over Nottinghamshire takes their total to 88 points from 12 matches.

Remarkable bowing by Eric Bedser (live for 27) and Tony Lock (three for 64) carried Surrey to their runaway victory over Yorkshire.

They were responsible for a Yorkshire collapse in which the visitors all produced a new batch of stars to maintain the high standard of Army soccer in the Colony.

These seven departures must be causing the Army team many headaches and it can only be hoped that the new arrivals, RTR and REME, will produce all the enthusiasm to maintain the high standard of Army soccer in the Colony.

HEARTY WELCOME

A very hearty welcome is offered to the 1 Royal Tank Regiment by all local sportsmen and we sincerely hope that they will carry on the good work of the 7 Hussars.

The regiment have been severely handicapped during the past year by being split up into small detachments and spread out over the length and breadth of England. Looking at their past glories, however, it seems that their chief love has been athletics as they were runners-up for four years in the BAOR Championships.

They also won the BAOR water polo title in 1950 and the Canal Zone honours in 1955.

Again at athletics they were in the runners-up position for two successive years in the Canal Zone Pentathlon competitions.

A tour in Korea during 1953 saw them trying championships with our American friends at baseball, where no specific honours are claimed.

I have it on good authority that after nearly five years of restricted sporting activities the regiment are going all out for honour in every branch of sport, hoping to build up a good team and team spirit.

We on our part look forward with pleasure to seeing the regiment's colours on the local sports fields.

FEAST OF HOCKEY

A feast of hockey was served up at Whitchurch Barracks on Monday last when the top three teams in the Six-a-side League were on view. In the best game

I've seen this season, second in the table, RHQ 74 LAZ, by the odd goal in the last seconds of the game.

It would be unfair to RHQ to say that they were lucky to win, perhaps it would be more apt to say that the ball ran a little more kindly for them. COD played throughout the game with only five men, and the player and reserve who failed to turn up must be aware now that their absence must probably cost them the game.

Their opponents, 100, never failed to punish loose deliveries in scoring 61 in 101 minutes, with ten fours.

There was a dramatic finish in the match between Sussex and Worcestershire. With the total score level, Bob Broadbent of Worcestershire was run out of the last bit of extra time when trying to get the one run necessary for victory, and the match ended in a draw.

Worcestershire, who finished with five wickets in hand, held off a determined attack by the Sussex team.

Alain Dixon played one of his best innings for Kent, never failing to punish loose deliveries in scoring 61 in 101 minutes, with ten fours.

13. Jean Stabilinski, Louis Belgaud, André Darrigade, Albert Bouvet and Gilbert Buvini, all in the French team, launched the first attack.

They held this lead for 17 minutes. The main pack caught up but Trochut at his wheel surged ahead to be the first to cross into France over the Franco-Belgian border.

Although they were joined by other sprinters, Trochut attacked again. Just before the finish he was joined by seven other riders but with that little extra punch left in his legs, Trochut hurled his front wheel over the finishing line in the final sprint to win the stage.

Tomorrow's seventh stage from here to Colmar is over 223 kilometres.

Yankees Stay Two Games Ahead In American League

New York, July 2.

Gill McDougald's two-run double with two out in the 11th inning gave the Yankees a 6-4 victory over the Orioles today and earned southpaw Whitey Ford his second triumph in relief in as many days.

Baltimore reliever Ken Lehman struck out Enos Slaughter and Mickey Mantle to open the 11th, but Yogi Berra singled and Joe Collins walked. When the count reached two balls and no strikes on McDougald, George Zuverink replaced Lehman and was tagged for McDougald's double.

Ford, the Yankee's fourth pitcher, gave up three hits and struck out three over the last four innings to gain his fourth victory.

The Yankees remained two games ahead of the second-place White Sox, who defeated Detroit, 4-2.

Larry Doby hit his eighth homer off Frank Lary in a three-run inning to help southpaw Billy Pierce to his 11th triumph. Pierce gave up five hits but got into trouble because of three Chicago errors.

Sammy White drove in both Boston runs in a 2-1 victory over Washington. The Red Sox collected only three hits off Camilo Pascual and Russ Kemmerer while Frank Sullivan, the winner, gave up six hits.

The Cincinnati Redlegs scored twice in the 10th inning on doubles by George Crowe and Don Hoak and three walks to beat the Chicago Cubs 8-6.

"Toucher" On Yesterday's Open Pairs Games

Although no upsets were registered in the opening matches of the second round of the Colony Open Pairs Lawn Bowls Championship yesterday when 14 pairs entered the third round, thrilling last head finishes were seen in no fewer than four games.

In the feature match of the afternoon, John Tang and Joe Landolt of Kowloon Cricket Club just managed to scrape through with a 23-22 win over M. B. Hassan and O. R. Sadick of Indian Recreation Club with a "fluke" shot from the last wood of the game.

Hassan and Sadick enjoyed an early lead of 10-3 after the fifth head, but dropped off after that to allow Tang and Landolt to draw up to 12-12 by the end of the 12th head.

The Indian pair went ahead with a four to 16-12 only to see Tang and Landolt re-take with a two and two thirds to lead by 20-16. Effective heavy shots by Sadick in the next few heads brought him to 22-21 on the last head.

Hassan and Sadick were lying three shots on the deciding head when Landolt, in a desperate drive to take the jack into the ditch for a single, was narrow with his last wood, but hit a front wood, which in turn sliced the jack to one side to give him a count of two.

MOST UNLUCKY

Most unlucky pair in yesterday's games were perhaps C. E. M. Terry and A. Harvey of Kowloon Bowling Green Club. Both played some brilliant bowls against their more favoured opponents, S. Bucks and U. A. Rumjahn of Indian Recreation Club.

In a game that produced the highest standard of bowls in yesterday's games they actually had the better of their opposite numbers on the whole match, but lost the game on an erratic wood by Harvey in the third last head of the match.

The score was then 17-15 in favour of Terry and Harvey. With Harvey to bowl the last wood of the head, he was lying three beautes on the jack and when any other bowler would have just "talked" his last wood, Harvey tried to draw in a fourth shot. He was a shade heavy, lapped his first shot, which was touching the jack, and sprang the jack a few inches back to give his opponent a lie of two.

Although the next head was buried, Ducks and Rumjahn managed to score a three on the 20th head and kept their opponents to a single on the last head to win by 20-18.

Two other matches which were won on the last head were those between A. K. Ismail and M. Q. Wong of Craigengower and the two youthful brothers, L. A. and A. M. Marques, and between P. Manson and F. W. Hollands of Craigengower and C. H. Gough and R. O. Hughes of Police Recreation Club.

In a very close match all the way, Ismail and Wong were trailing 10-18 on the last head, but chalked up a three on the last head—two drawn shots by Ismail and one lucky one by Wong when he was a little bit narrow but tapped up his own wood.

Manson and Hollands were 17-10 up at the end of the 16th head, but conceded a single, a five, a two and another single on the next four heads to trail behind by 17-19 on the last head. A three on this head pulled them through to the next round.

George Formby Is Quite Content To Take Life Easily Nowadays

By RALPH COOPER

George Formby—still a name to conjure with. One of the last of the great music hall artistes; the man years ago made a rip-tickling racing film called "No Limit"; but who, at the age of 58 and five years after a heart attack that looked like finishing his career, finds that title no longer applies.

Not to him at any rate.

George has not retired—and probably never will. But he's quite content to take life easily and ration the work. Two big TV shows a year and a play or a pantomime.

I found him fit and sun-tanned on his luxury motor cruiser in Norfolk, and he announced himself as "champion!" "But it's not worth earning more than £7,000 or £8,000 a year today," he said frankly.

"Anything over that and you're working for nothing. I was doing well in the days when you were allowed to keep some of the money you earned."

And George and his wife Beryl have always lived simply and put their brass away for rainy day.

"I've never wanted anything else," George told me, as we sat on the deck of his cruiser.

MAD SCRABBLE

The sun was beating down, the sea lapping idly against the side of the boat and the sails of a nearby yacht flapping gently in the breeze. We might have been a million miles away from the mad scramble that is show business.

"I've never liked the gay life," said George, "but the night clubs and the parties."

"We've got our house at St Anne's and we've got this boat. It's a pretty good life."

The Formbys split their time between the two—with most of the summer on the boat. "You wouldn't want to go back to it all?" I asked Beryl, after soaking up some of their peace and quiet. Her answer surprised me.

There was a certain wistful regret in the way she said: "Oh, I don't know. It was fun, wonderful fun when you're young and battling to get somewhere."

George looked thoughtful. "I bought a little ten-horse job," he said, "but after years of driving big, fast ones it was terrible. I thought I was standing still."

"That car lasted two days," said Beryl, "and then he got a bigger one."

Went on George: "I kept that one till the end of the week, and a big Jaguar, but when petrol rationing came in, he thought he'd better get something smaller."

Went on George: "I kept that one till the end of the week, and a big Jaguar, but when petrol rationing came in, he thought he'd better get something smaller."

"I feel sorry for some of the youngsters starting today," said George. "We used to say it took five years to get there, five years to start on top and five years on the way out. Today it's more like five months or five minutes—and they're up there before they know what's hit them."

OUT ALL NIGHT

"Some of them stay out all night—and crawl into bed at eight o'clock in the morning."

"You can't do that if you've got a couple of shows in the evening."

I left George, appropriately enough, "cleaning windows." With his famous grin as wide as ever he said once more, "It's a pretty good life."

George Formby is shown in his boat in Norfolk.

He's a jockey until 1920, when his father, a famous Lancashire comedian, died.

He's a boxer until 1925, when he started George had £75 worth of debts and I had £75 in savings. So after we paid off the debt we had £25—and two weeks' work on the books.

Then George saw a car he wanted—for £80. I told him we hadn't one of those, too.

"Did all me courting it."

"That's something of a record, too. We're coming up to our thirty-third year of married life, and that's pretty unusual in this business."

"And we've never spent a day apart," declared Beryl, "except when he was in hospitals. Then I went up to see him three times a day."

George thought back over his 38 years in show business. He was a jockey until 1920, when his father, a famous Lancashire comedian, died.

A Famous Broadway Singer Is In Hongkong On A World Trip

HE HANDS OUT MONEY AS HE SINGS

by Andrew Sloan

many operettas making quite a name for himself in the process.

He was invited to the Vienna Music Festival after the tour of Germany was over. While there he was also engaged at the Moulin Rouge.

From Vienna to Istanbul, Turkey.

There he sang at the famous Hilton Hotel.

He bought with it a car and clothes—which he said he did not need.

Later however the car figured very much in Ray's travels.

From Istanbul to Beirut for three months and then, Cairo.

The Suez Canal troubles were just beginning but that did not prevent him from appearing at the Auberge des Pyramids in Cairo.

Ray next decided he would like to move on to Bagdad. But with trouble brewing the authorities decided against that and warned him not to go.

He was not allowed to travel by air and the highway was closed.

Faced with visa trouble he had to postpone his trip to Hongkong and instead flew to Manila, while his friends the Hendersons, came on to Hongkong.

After one week in Manila, he flew up to "Fabulous, exciting, beautiful and different, Hongkong," as Ray described it.

From here, his 34th country, Ray hopes to move on to Formosa, Saigon or Australia. But he added that even when his contract finishes in Hongkong he may stay on here because he likes it so much.

Bought A Car

ONE of Ray's favourite songs is the "Money Money" song. While he sings, he hands out "play money". Ray decided that as there were too many bright lights and a big crowd at the Hilton he would place a $10 bill on top of the play money and another underneath to make them look real.

"While I was singing I forgot that I had placed the real money in the bundle and handed that out too. When I found that I had handed out the $20 I felt distinctly upset."

Ray fulfilled an engagement at the London Arts Theatre before moving on to France and when he did leave he was faced with a problem.

There were restrictions on the amount of money which could be taken out of the country. So eventually they arrived at their destination, after having bought a car and clothes—which he said he did not need.

He turned to the car he had bought in Britain.

With his agent an American newspaperman, he decided to cross the desert. There was no road across the 800 miles of waste land. "Mostly we followed oil drums and camels," said Ray.

Eventually they arrived at their destination, after having crossed the desert, after having been lost a number of times, running short of supplies and a series of punctured tyres.

Pakistan and Karschi were next. Again the little car took them all the way. Christmas and New Year were spent in Pakistan at the Metropole Hotel, one of the top night clubs there.

Temed Up

THE car was sold in Karachi after bringing them all the way from Cairo to India.

During his stay there Ray met a world champion ballroom dancing couple, the Hendersons, and from that day until now they have stuck together. The Hendersons are also in Hongkong.

The Ambassador Hotel, Bombay, was the next night club to hear the intimate style of singing of Ray Kidd. While in Bombay he took time out to visit the Taj Mahal which is something he always wanted to see.

China Mail Photo Competition

ENTRIES for the China Mail photo competition should be either posted or delivered to the Editor, 13 Wyndham Street, Hongkong.

The competition, as announced last Saturday, is being held in two sections—for the best two news photographs and the best two human interest or "animal interest" photos.

A total of $300 will be awarded in prizes.

The first prize in each section will be $150 and the second prize will be $100.

Rules and regulations are published below.

This week, to help photographers in their choice of pictures, the China Mail is publishing a number of "news" and "human interest" pictures—the kind that are eligible for the competition.

TRADE and COMMERCE SECTION

POWER COMMISSION UNDER FIRE IN UNITED STATES

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

Washington, July 2. The embattled Federal Power Commission has another bear by the tail. It must let go soon and retreat or hold on and court the wrath of the oil and natural gas people.

Last April 18 the Commission, already under fire because it can't please everybody, notified Independent Gas Producers it was proposing to adopt a rule requiring them to file complete financial reports by July 31 on their 1956 State and interstate business.

Profit Taking In London

London, July 2. There was a fair amount of profit-taking but the market absorbed the selling without much trouble and the tone was fairly firm.

British Government were an exception, nearly all losing ground. Old Consols lost 6 shillings to 50 sterling, close to their 1957 lows of 40½ shillings while War Loan lost 6 shillings to 68½-18 sterling compared with its low of 60½.

Only feature in Industrials was the heavy profit-taking in the department store shares. John Barker closed at 103 shillings compared with their recent short-lived peak of 117 shillings; Gamages was heavily bought and sold but retained a modest gain of 1 shilling 9 pence.

Oils were weak, the leaders losing at least 2 shillings, but they recovered in the afternoon and showed very little change. Foreign bonds were quiet but some of the Japanese assested bonds gained a few shillings; the German Young Loan non-assisted gained ½ shilling.—United Press.

Commonwealth Economy Study

London, July 2. Official sources said today financial secretaries and experts of the Commonwealth governments would meet here in a two-day session starting July 8 to examine in detail "the impact of the proposed European free trade on the Commonwealth economy as a whole."

They said Britain desires a looser industrial association in order to keep intact nearly all Commonwealth preferences, especially when 50 per cent of imports from the Commonwealth is food.

Such an industrial free trade area, they said, would not affect the Commonwealth economy.

All Afro-Asian Commonwealth members want to be satisfied that Britain's industrial association with the projected free trade area would not be detrimental to their agricultural industries and to the execution of their industrial development schemes," they said.—United Press.

CHATTER ON WALL STREET

New York, July 2. Despite recent negative action, confirmation of trend weakness has not taken place, according to E. F. Hutton & Co.

Owens Brothers & Co. says the market appears to be in a position to reflect further selective strength with some indications of an improving interest in the session.

Edmund W. Tabell, analyst for Watson & Co., says his technical indicator which gave a secondary sell signal is now in a position to reverse itself and reaffirm the primary buy signal given near the February lows.

Harris, Upham & Co. estimates Brooklyn Union Gas will earn $3 share in 1957 against $2.83 in 1956.

ANALYSING

Frands I Du Pont & Co., analysing J. C. Penny & Co., looks for 1957 net of $6 a share for the company against $5.68 in 1956.

Josephthal & Co. says this is the time when there are interesting values and dynamics in Jones & Laughlin, Giddens, Steel, Flintkote, Gilkison, Gimbel, Wilson, US Rubber, and RCA.

Associates Investment Co. has just published a pamphlet on commercial financing entitled "Money to grow on" to help business men obtain funds without affecting management control or corporate ownership.

Value Line looks for an improvement in profits for the milling industry over the coming year.

Alexander Hamilton Institute says that before there can be hopes of moving materially into new ground, there will have to be a further period of consolidation.—United Press.

PERSONAL

"It would have the effect," he said, "of compelling producers to lay open to the public and divulge information that is personal and private, in many instances adversely affecting the competitive position of the producer."

In its notice the Commission said the Gas Act gives it authority to demand such reports, with some exemptions for small producers. It said that after last year's reports were analysed it was found that "more complete information on the sales under FPC rate schedules is essential" if it is to do an effective job of rate control."

Brown raised five objections. He said the Gas Act confers no such authority; that the rule would violate due process requirements of the Constitution; that it would violate the Federal Trade Act; that it is an improper exercise of authority; and that it constitutes "an administrative fishing expedition."

WHAT RIGHT?

He said the Commission's jurisdiction does not embrace intrastate gas sales or activities not related to gas production. Oil, for example, What right, he asked, does the FPC have to demand an accounting of all revenues which are a part of intrastate gas operations?

"The producers," Brown continued, "are engaged in a myriad of related activities and the Commission is demanding the right to see their ledgers. It has absolutely no jurisdiction," he added.

He charged further that the Commission was seeking "retroactive" data which would be embarrassing competitively because the Commission itself "has not established firm standards on which to determine producer prices for gas."

"Until such standards are established," he said, "the information needed will be indefinite and subject to change."

The "adversary" is premature. It is "an inspiring expedition."—United Press.

Arrangements Completed

London, July 2. Philip Hill, Higginson & Company Limited and Messrs. Bowditch & Sons announced that arrangements have been completed for the placing of 27 million worth of £5m of short-dated notes for 1957-58 at 4½ per cent on behalf of Midland Copper Mines Limited, subject to certain conditions and the filing of necessary documents.

Calls on the stock would be spread over three years. It was intended that the proceeds of the issue should be applied to the expansion of the copper producing capacity of the company from 100,000 to 185,000 tons of copper a year.—China Mail Special.

ACTIVE TRADING ON WALL STREET

New York, July 2. Stocks added more than 1 billion to overall values today in the most active trading since June 12, sparked by oils, steels, drugs, building stocks and a host of special issues.

News that a group of drug firms has developed a new vaccine to combat the Asiatic flu which is expected to become a problem in the U.S. this autumn, sparked activity in that group late in the session.

The spurt in drugs added impetus to an advance already in progress, highlighted by gains of around 2 to 4 points in the oils, point to 2 in the steels and around 2 to 3 points in the building shares.

Reception

Helping sentiment, commentators noted, were the favourable reception in building circles to the new housing bill increasing Federal funds for building and cutting down payments; increased auto output for the first half of the year; forecasts of year-term improvement in steel output; a pickup expected for television production; and hopes of a better inventory situation for the oils.

Special issues were in the limelight; stocks such as Bell & Howell which spurred over 6 points on active turnover on reports it will make a bid for General Aviation & Film; Elastec Stop Nut, nearly 3 higher on a favourable report.

Turnover swelled to 2,450,000 shares from 1,840,000 on Monday.

NY Stock Exchange bond volume was $5,280,000.

American Stock Exchange volume was 740,000 shares.

HANDWRITING IDENTIFIED

Murder Trial Continues

A Chinese man today identified the handwriting in two letters as that of Yuen Kam-wah, who was said to have died following a suicide pact.

The evidence was given by Chul Kwong-bun, part owner of a cafe in which Yuen was employed as a maid during the trial this morning of a 38-year-old woman, Ho Sam-nui, charged with murder before Mr Justice A. D. Scholes in the Criminal Sessions.

Chul however agreed in cross-examination that his opinion that the letters were in Yuen's handwriting was based mainly on memory. He had previously seen deceased writing letters in the shop.

Lady Grantham Visits Social Welfare Projects

Lady Grantham had a busy morning when she completed a two-and-a-half hour tour of a number of Social Welfare projects in Kowloon.

Among the places Lady Grantham visited was the Li Cheng Uk Tomb where she was met by the Chairman of the Urban Council, the Hon. E. B. Teesdale, and the Superintendent of Gardens, Mr. R. E. Dean.

In her visits to the Welfare groups Lady Grantham was accompanied by Miss Dorothy Lee, Assistant Social Welfare Officer (Young Welfare).

Lady Grantham visited the Yau Ma Tei Welfare Centre, the Remond Home in Malauei Road, and the Li Cheng Uk Boys and Girls Club.

'STARS AND STRIPES' WAS UPSIDE DOWN

The Stars and Stripes made an undignified appearance at the US Consulate today. Passers-by noticed it was flying upside down. A passing cameraman snapped it — and since he got there a neighbour phoned up the Consulate to tell them. In came the upside down flag and a minute later out went the right-side up flag.

CROWN CASE COMPLETED IN EDWARDS' APPEAL

The Solicitor-General, Mr Arthur Hooton, QC, completed his arguments before the Full Court this morning in reply to those put forward by Mr W. S. Edwards, former Inland Revenue assessor, during his appeal.

The appeal is against a judgment of Mr Justice A. D. Scholes relating to a claim for damages by Mr Edwards against Mr K. M. Almiao, Assistant Commissioner of Inland Revenue.

The Judge had ruled that a document connected with the case was privileged.

The Full Court comprises Mr Justice M. J. Hogan, Chief Justice, and Mr Justice T. J. Gould, Senior Puisne Judge.

Mr Hooton, reappearing Mr Almiao, this morning dealt with the ground of the appeal that the Trial Judge had failed to act judicially in his determination.

Asked if he knew there was a distinction between Chinese wine and Chinese liquor, Dr Nutten said that there was not.

Asked if he knew there was not.

Four Chinese characters on the wine bottle were translated by the Court Interpreter as "Soy Taste Double Distilled."

Mr Hu: They (the characters) mean that the contents have been doubly distilled?

Dr Nutten: I don't think they mean that.

According to the distinction you have given to the Court, it is a liquor not a wine? — It is a wine, not a liquor.

On this point Mr Hooton submitted that there was no basis whatsoever for that statement. Very obviously, he said, the Judge had considered very carefully the authorities quoted extensively in his judgment.

As to the ground that the Judge, in purporting to act judicially, failed properly to exercise the discretion vested in him, Mr Hooton contended that there had been no question of discretion in this matter; it was a question of deciding a point of law.

The only point where there might have been any discretion was on the question of requesting the Colonial Secretary to come and give evidence, or of calling him for cross-examination, he said.

Mr Hooton said he had already spoken on these points, but that apart from it there was no question of any discretion.

Another point made by the appellant, he continued, was that as he had already made public part of the confidential report by publishing it in his statement of claim, it could not possibly be injurious to the public interest if it was disclosed in evidence.

The Chief Justice said the Court would note Mr Edwards' objection.

Continuing, Mr Hooton submitted that unless the appellant could obtain production of the document, his action must fail.

He said Mr Edwards had made the point that the action should not be dismissed even if the "question of privilege" was upheld. The answer to this, the Solicitor-General said, was that if the claim to privilege was upheld, the action could not proceed.

Without producing the report, therefore, the action could not proceed, stated Mr Hooton.

He submitted that if the Judge was right in upholding the claim of privilege, then the proper thing to do was to dismiss the action.

Hearing is proceeding.

At this Mr Edwards objected, stating that what he had said was "I may never . . ."

Mr Hooton remarked that Mr Edwards did not call his own words or he (Mr Hooton) had misunderstood him.

The Chief Justice said the Court would note Mr Edwards' objection.

Continuing, Mr Hooton submitted that unless the appellant could obtain production of the document, his action must fail.

He said Mr Edwards had made the point that the action should not be dismissed even if the "question of privilege" was upheld. The answer to this, the Solicitor-General said, was that if the claim to privilege was upheld, the action could not proceed.

The Solicitor-General turned to an argument by Mr Edwards in chambers setting down this point of law.

Mr Hooton said the appellant had said he never sought production of the report.

Fined $200: Employed Children

The proprietor of the Chan Ho Chai Watch Repairs Factory of 153, Argyle Street, first, and second floors, was fined $200 for employing three children aged 11, 12 and 13.

Mr A. H. Carter of the Labour Department asked Mr Morris to take a serious view of the case as the defendant had four previous convictions of a similar nature.

Fined $4,500

A licensed book owner, Chiu, Tui, who admitted importation and distribution of obscene, pornographic and indecent publications, and keeping two such publications, was fined a total of $4,500 for 18 months and 10 days by Mr Justice T. J. Gould in Central Magistrate's Court yesterday.

Mr Morris said the defendant had been convicted of the same offence in 1955 and 1956.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

East And West

Sir,—After reading the letter from a reader, Sandie, in Fair Play in Monday's China Mail, I am surprised that he (I am sure he is of the male species) does not call himself "UNfair Play," for his father is diverted only at Chinese women and their "horrible" way of dressing.

I agree with him in saying that some Chinese women are stout with shapeless legs, and others seem as if they are wearing high heel for the first time.

If only he would look at English women. The majority of English women have stouter legs than the Chinese. Fair Play should also note that Chinese women (or most of them, at least) wear choicestograms for their own comfort. "Two-sided skirts, slips longer than dresses etc." is the way Fair Play describes how the Chinese women dress. I guess English women are more careful. Well, he's wrong. I've seen numerous English women with long-sleeved skirts and with slips showing.

I wonder if Fair Play knows what "blending colours" means. The Chinese are actually praised because of their splendid way of blending colours. Why doesn't he look at modern women — then he may get to know what "blending colours" means. But if he must look at "country bumpkins" I can guess why he says they're "horrible." I've seen, just recently, an English woman blend colours this way: white blouse, green skirt, red belt, blue and white ear-rings and white sandals.

If Fair Play thinks he knows how women should blend colours, why doesn't he start a "blending school"? But I bet that any women who joined would blend colours worse than ever when they graduated.

INDIGNANT. [One or two unnecessary remarks have been deleted.—ED.]

14-Year-Old Student Said To Be Triad Man

A 14-year-old student charged with being a member of a triad society before Mr Simon F. S. Li in the Juvenile Court this morning said that he had been "swindled" by others to join up.

The student arrested yesterday and alleged to be a member of the Wo Shing Wu Triad society added, "I have always been beaten up by others. I was told if I joined I would not be beaten. I was really forced to join."

The mother of the boy asked the court to help her son.

She said she had no knowledge of her son joining a triad society.

Mr Li remanded the student until Saturday next for decision.
